Long term storage foods and grains are essential in emergency preparedness, but the human body also needs and craves fresh foods. Our one-of-a-kind garden bucket allows you to grow fresh vegetables literally anywhere. Indoors, outdoors, in a greenhouse, on a patio, etc. It's completely self-contained, you just add soil and water. The seeds were all chosen for their high vitamin and nutritional content. They are non-hybrid, heat-sealed in mylar and will stay fresh and viable for up to 15 years. Harvest your own seeds and you and your family can feed yourselves for generations. The 7 gallon shipping/storage bucket is USDA Food Grade, airtight and watertight, and can also be used as a pot or hanging planter. You can be harvesting your first vegetables within 60 days in most cases, and sometimes sooner. Because everything is in containers it is easy to move around if needed, and if things are really bad, easier to guard than a plot of land.
